Vol. I.

JULY, 1889.

No. 5.

THE JOHN W. LOVELL COMPANY, for seven years, has made it a business rule to supply the trade with the best selling books at the lowest price.

"Lovell's Library" has been issued at regular intervals, and the list now comprises over 1,400 numbers, which retail at from 10 to 40 cents each.

Arrangements have been made with Frank F. Lovell & Co., by which their "Household Library," of 25 and 50 cent books, will be supplied exclusively by us for the future. This library comprises 230 numbers.

The "International Series," which has become so deservedly popular, from the same house, now numbers 30 issues.

Two new monthly series will be issued, beginning with July, which for attractiveness in cover, quality of paper, clearness of type, and merit of contents has seldom been equalled in the 50 cent books.

"The Occult Series," in handsome cover lithographed in four colors, will begin with "The Blossom and the Fruit," by Mabel Collins, the daughter of Charles Dickens, who, in espousing the principles of re-incarnation, has made for herself a name not far removed from that of her illustrious father.

"Lovell's Illustrated Series," 50 cents, will begin with "An I. D. B. in South Africa." This series will be profusely illustrated. The initial issue, by Louise Vescelius-Sheldon, treating of the illicit buying of diamonds in South Africa, presents a picture of African life drawn from a five years' residence on the Dark Continent.

To supply the constantly increasing demand for the work of home authors, a semi-monthly series is in preparation, and each issue will be characterized by an individuality of its own in the shape of an original and striking cover to catch the eye and enlist the notice of the great reading public.

To compete with those who are offering undesirable books at low prices, we have commenced the publication of "The Favorite Library of Choice Fiction," comprising 50 numbers from the pens of such writers as W. C. Russell, Rider Haggard, Walter Besant, Florence Warden, and Miss Braddon.

We will also supply for the future "The Home Series of Choice Reading," retailing for 25 cents and comprising 500 numbers.

The same enterprise which has been employed in the past will characterize the future in procuring the best material to be had.

LITERARY NOTES.

Among the miscellaneous works which Frank F. Lovell & Company are continually issuing, that no field may be left untouched, is one which should find an enormous sale, "The A B C of Electricity," by William H. Meadowcroft. The telegraph, the telephone, and the electric light are in constant use about us, yet how little we know of the subtle and dangerous fluid and the apparatus for controlling it. Mr. Meadowcroft's volume is short, simple, and well illustrated, defining electrical terms and bearing Mr. Edison's sanction and approval.

"Lines and Rhymes," to be issued in July, will be a boon to readers and recitationists who have exhausted the supply of threadbare compositions. Mr. James Clarence Harvey has prepared from his writings a volume of selections, pathetic, dramatic, and humorous, which are especially adapted for public reading and recitation.

Among the books of the "International Series," "The Fog Princes," by Florence Warden, is meeting with great favor. The old theme of buried treasure is treated with a freshness, originality, and strength which will appeal to many readers who admire boldness of treatment in plots which border on the improbable.

"The Fatal Phryne," by the author of "As in a Looking-Glass" and Mrs. C. G. Wills, is a story of inordinate jealousy which prompts the well-drawn, principal character to administer a drug to his supposed rival, the effect of which is to give him the appearance of a leper.

Mr. S. Baring Gould in "Mehalah" and "John Herring" sustains the enviable reputation he has earned for producing dramatic and artistically constructed stories.

In all these series, comparison with other price lists is invited. No catalogue in this country comprises so wide a selection combined with excellence of quality, and the advantages to the dealer have never been equalled in the history of popular publications.

LOVELL'S LITERATURE SERIES.

In this series, the works of Ruskin, Carlyle, and kindred writers will be given a dress befitting the dignity and merit of the subject-matter between the covers. Although the retail price will be fifty cents, the appearance of each volume will be such that it may well adorn the shelves of any library.

"Clothed with the Sun," by Annie Bonus Kingsford, will be ready in July, bound handsomely in cloth, complete in one volume; price, $2.00.

To secure the earliest possible publication of the works of foreign authors, the John W. Lovell Company has established a resident agency in London, and as nearly as possible the works of the most popular English authors will appear simultaneously on this side of the Atlantic.

Pending the decision in regard to the International copyright this seems the only method by which foreign authors can derive the benefit due them from the publication of their works in this country.

That compensation is due them no one will deny, and this agency has been established to bring about a more friendly relation between the authors of England and the publishing interests of America.

PRESS NOTICES.

"Derrick Vaughan, Novelist," by Edna Lyall. This is one of its author's shortest stories, but it is interesting and well told. The hero is handicapped by a drunken father, one of the fine English gentlemen who in society are models of deportment, yet are brutes at home. There is a love story, of course, and it is well handled. Indeed, the entire book is an illustration of how good a tale may be when "boiled down."—New York Herald.

"Divorce," by Margaret Lee. A new edition has appeared with the review of the book by the Hon. W. E. Gladstone, which appeared in the Nineteenth Century. It is a remarkable story, in which the injustice of the divorce laws of this country are strikingly set forth in the conclusion of the married life of Gilbert and Constance Travers. The manner in which a good and true woman is treated by a polished, selfish brute is painted with a stern realism that is very effective, and the reader admires the wife while he despises the husband who could throw over the mother of his children, whose money he had squandered, for an artificial woman of the world. Fashionable life in New York, in some of its phases, has never been more faithfully portrayed than it is in this novel.—Boston Gazette.

"Hartas Maturin," by H. F. Lester. Louise Chandler Moulton says: "I have read many theosophic novels; but, upon my word, 'Hartas Maturin' is by far the cleverest and most impressive of them all. It is a singularly vivid and enthralling story; and it has the merit, besides, of being distinctly moral in its tone."—Kansas City Journal.

Frank P. Lovell & Co., New York, have started a new "library" of fiction—"The International"—the three first volumes of which are "Miss Eagan, of Eagan Court," by Katharine S. Macquoid; "Hartas Maturin," by H. F. Lester, and "Tales of to-Day," by George R. Sims. These books are in good type, on good paper, and the publishers announce that royalties are paid to all the authors, English and American. They further say that the prices are slightly in advance of those of some other libraries—"piratical" editions implied—and that these figures indicate what may occur should the International Copyright law be enacted. As the prices are no higher than those of some poorer books which seem to sell, there is nothing in the announcement to trouble the American reader, and, to do the publishers of the new series justice, no such intimation is attempted. Plenty of money in the United States is waiting for really good books at modest prices.—New York Herald.

LOVELL'S OCCULT SERIES.

This series will contain the works of the best authors in occult literature, including the philosophical and theosophical subjects as well as those of fiction.

No. 1. THE BLOSSOM AND THE FRUIT, by Mabel Collins, 50 cents.

The reincarnation theory, which has been so widely utilized in recent books of fiction, is treated with wonderful clearness and power in this most recent work from the pen of Charles Dickens' daughter. "Through the Gates of Gold," by the same author, created a sensation in England, and placed the author in the front rank of writers on occult themes.

LOVELL'S ILLUSTRATED SERIES.

These monthly issues are printed on extra fine, heavy, calendered paper, profusely illustrated, each number having a cover, original and striking, specially designed and appropriate.

No. 1. AN I. D. B. IN SOUTH AFRICA, by Louise Vescelius-Sheldon.

An actual residence in Zululand has made it possible for this author to depict the life at the diamond fields and among the Kafirs in its most entertaining form, interweaving a romance which serves to brighten the pages of word painting. Fine photogravure illustrations assist the imagination in reproducing the scenes described. The demand for illustrated books has been sufficient to justify the regular issue of this series at the uniform price of fifty cents.

LOVELL'S AMERICAN AUTHORS' SERIES.

In addition to the especial care which will be given to the selection of subjects and authors in this series, each number will have its specially designed cover, and will be printed on superior quality of paper, in clear-faced type, making it a most charming and desirable series. Issued semi-monthly.

No. 1. THE FAIR MAID OF MARBLEHEAD, by Kate Tannatt Woods.

No. 2. A SOCIAL DIPLOMAT, by Flora Adams Darling.

"The Fair Maid of Marblehead" is by the author of "Hidden for Years" and "The Minister's Secret," both of which met with great favor.

"A Social Diplomat," by Florence Adams Darling, who is widely known through her spirited contributions to the newspaper press throughout the country, is a story of social life in Washington, the national capital.

LOVELL'S FOREIGN LIBRARY.

Under this head the best works of the best foreign authors will be issued at regular intervals, care being taken that the translations shall be made by persons eminently fitted for the work through perfect familiarity with both the original and English language.

No. 1. ANNA KARENINA, by Count Lyof M. Tolstoi.
